Dialogues between Croucher Innovation Awardees and RPg Students

The Graduate School is pleased to offer opportunities for informal interactions between RPg students and Croucher Innovation Awardees, which aim at contributing to the development of critical questioning and thinking skills among RPg students in the emerging world of open innovation. Through these exchanges, the Awardees will share their experience and insights in innovative research, which also echoes one of the 3 'I' strategies of HKU – “internationalisation, innovation and interdisciplinarity”.

Here is the first session of the dialogues series:
