

Dialogues between Veteran and Aspiring Researchers

The Graduate School is pleased to offer opportunities for informal interactions between postgraduate students and visiting professors. Through these exchanges, prominent researchers will share their immense experience and insights in becoming successful academics and beyond, and students are encouraged to ask questions about how to be better prepared for a career in academia or an alternative academic path.

Please find below the details of the coming session:

Professor Andrew Hargreaves
Thomas More Brennan Chair in Education
Lynch School of Education
Boston College, USA

Distinguished Visiting Professor, Faculty of Education, HKU

Professor Hargreaves will discuss the role and importance of being a public intellectual within and outside academic life. The role of the public intellectual is to draw on expertise to comment with integrity and authority on the issues of the day. Becoming a public intellectual means not only developing that expertise in traditional scholarly forms, but also representing scholarly knowledge in different writing genres, and through public, professional and social media, in spoken word as well as in print.
